Our City comment & discussion by THOMAS D. WATSON

What Is the Matter With the Sewer Deal?

WHY the delay in the sewer plans? The limit set by the Los Angeles city council is now up, without any word.

We hope the delay has no significance but is only on account of rush of business.

We cannot expect Los Angeles to be as keen on our sewer as we are, because we are the ones making a request to them. Good judgment, however, would suggest that inasmuch as Los Angeles has just as much to gain through the granting of our request, it would quit marking time on the proposition and tell us to go ahead.

We attach no blame for this delay on any of our citizens for we feel that they have handled the entire deal with as much zeal and good judgment as is possible.

BY a ratio of 16 to 1 Long Beach voters approved a bond issue to provide additional parks and playgrounds. This speaks well for the community spirit.

The country at large is coming to a realization that if juvenile delinquency is to be controlled, proper plans of recreation must be provided for the young people. By having them community owned they can be better controlled and objectional features eliminated.

If the old high school site can be obtained for a community center for civic, business and recreation purposes Glendale will have an ideal plant for a civic center.

* * *

WITH a bridge located in an accessable location over the Los Angeles river connecting us with Griffith Park along with the small parks we now have we will be pretty well taken care of.

We don't think the citizens of Glendale give due apreciation to Griffith Park. If they did we think more effort would be made to secure a nearer entrance for Glendale citizens.

* * *

WE presume that now the drive for members for the chamber of commerce is over the chamber will be able to turn attention to some of the suggested propositions including the civic center and the bridge to Griffith Park. With the co-operation of citizens, in general, and our city officials these can without much doubt, be secured.

REALTY JINX GETS RAW RAZZING FROM REALTORS BOARD

"Constable" Finds Both Hands Full Trying to Herd Fellow Members in the Way They Should Go, at the Picnic

VERDUGO CANYON PARK IS CROWDED

Annual Outing Begins Saturday Afternon and Things Happen Regularly Until Midnight Closes Festival of Joy, Jazz and Frolic

By ALBERT MARPLE

"By heck," said "Constable" W. L. Truitt, Saturday evening, "That bunch o' real estate fellers from Glendale is the hardest crowd of pests I ever had to handle. They got more mischief in their carcass in one minute than Peck's bad boy had in a year. When that outfit comes to town agin I'm agoing to call out the reg'lar army—that's what I'm agoin' to do."

The bunch of real estate men to which Constable Truitt refers were members of the Glendale Realty Board which organization held its high jinx at the Haddock-Nibley park Saturday from 3 to 12 o'clock. This was their annual affair of this character and they went there with the idea of having the biggest time possible. And, if you are to believe the village constable, "they shore had that very thing."

One hundred or more of those realty dispensers were on the job, including the wives, sweethearts, infants and "Bill Twining." "Cam" Thom was there too, although he was not very much in evidence until the operation began.

As usual, Bill Twining made the noise, being ably assisted by his old pal, the megaphone. The big stick wielded by "W. L." the "constable," laid many of the trouble makers low, while Peter Hanson, introduced by Megaphone Twining as "da wan beeg Sweed of da realty boord," with his oratorical and dramatic powers was one of the "leading lights" of the general rough house. Whatever dramatic demonstrations was overlooked by Pete were presented by Dr. Russell and Elsa-Jane.

The spread-eagle stuff of the day started with a baseball game between the "girls" and the "boys." The bell sounded at 3 o'clock and the various principals left their corners. From beginning to end this contest can be expressed in a single word, "fireworks," the most illuminative of which was "Ump" Sawyer. The stuff that this officious individual did not put over was not "puttable." He was rich. His decisions became so "raw" that he voluntarily retired in favor of Megaphone Twining in the latter half of the eighth. Needless to say, what Sawyer left out Bill remembered.

The score was 36 to 3 in favor of the girls, of which team the "Umps" proved to be the most valuable member.

The girls team was made up of the following members:

On the men's team were, Catcher, Hopkins; pitcher, Blackmore; short, Bolen; first, Smith; second, Kingsley; third, Kroehle; left, Striker; center, Reeves; right, Horn.

Following the principal game a two-inning contest was played between the men of the organization. The score, when the game was called by Megaphone Twining was 13 to 2 in favor of the team headed by Realtor Sullivan. Charlie Guthrie, umpire, was quite an improvement over the earlier umpires of the day.

Following the ball game came the "Woman's Mysterious half hour," in which Dr. Russell told a darky story, and Elsa-Jane entertained those present with bible stories.

Then came the feed. Oh boy, what a feed! Wonderful baked beans, spud salad, ham, pickles, olives, rolls, coffee, lemonade, cake and ice cream. That feed couldn't be "beat," as they say. It was complete and what those ravenous realtors did to it was a shame.

Following the feed came the operation, with poor W. N. McMillan as victim. What "Doc" Thom did to poor "Mac" was awful. The only thing he left was the gizzard and a groan.

It all started with Realtor Barney building a fire without a permit. Constable Truitt arrested him and during the searching operation a pack of cards and a bottle of "hooch" was found on the prisoner. On a plea of Prosecuting Attorney Russell, Judge Tight fined the prisoner 20 escrows. During the trial McMillan, an expert sampler, took a drink of the hootch. A few minutes later Mac keeled over and the big things were on.

Mac was lifted to the table, where he was pounced upon by a dozen or more interns, assistants, quacks and others, and before he knew it Quack Hayward had the ether bottle to his mouth and he was soaring among the spirits. Then Doc Thom went to work.

When it comes to operation or, rather, cutting, Thom is right on the job. He can hack in fourteen languages. He used everything but a steam shovel. Entrance to the abdomnal region was secured via the brace and bit route. After that the going was easy, and by the time the extraction was complete everything that Mac ever possessed was in the bonfire. Even the pulmotor was brought into play.

Notwithstanding the ether Mac groaned on.

The high lights of the operation were interspersed by Pete Hanson, who assured those present that after the dull parts of the affair were "removed" a real program would be given.

Then came Wireless Hanson with a series of puns on various members of the organization. They were good. Some of them are given on another page.

After the wireless demonstration the evening was devoted to dancing.

MONTROSE LINE HEARING JUNE TWETY-FIFTH

Matter to Come Before the L. A. Board of Public Utilities

The matter of the granting of the franchise for a spur tract on the Glendale branch of the Los Angeles and Salt Lake railway, which would probably be the signal for work to begin on the electricification of the Glendale avenue line, will come up before the board of public utilities in Los Angeles at 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of Monday, June 25. The company desires a permit to build this spur track at Division and Cazador streets, Los Angeles. City Manager W. H. Reeves has been requested to be present at this meeting.

It is generally believed by those in a position to know that now that the Los Angeles election is over, this spur track franchise will be hurried through. Both the Glendale-Montrose railway company and the Los Angeles and Salt Lake company are ready and anxious to go ahead, and they promise to begin action just as soon as the necessary franchise has been granted.

GLENDALE DEFEATS ZELZAH

Local Outfit Finds Easy Picking in Small Town Team

THE SCORE IS 13 TO 3

Manager Walt Is a Little Wild, But He's Willing

After losing three consecutive games the Glendale team comes back with a bang, and showed real form again when they traveled to Zelzah yesterday and took the long end of a 13 to 3 score. This game was a lung developer, or field day for the Glendale squad, as nearly every player got their share of exercise which netted them 13 runs. Manager Walt worked on the mound, and although a little wild held the cellar champs to six singles. In the third inning two men on bases, Whitfer of the Zelzah squad connected with one of Walt's speed balls for a home-run, which gave them their three runs. This made all the Zelzah haymaker rooters chew on their wad of tobacco faster than ever before, but Walt tightened up, and spoiled their "funny" dreams.

The Glendale outfit looked like all "Babe Ruths" yesterday, as Lefty Harrison and Slim Harris both connected for home runs, while Wilson, Shorty Harrison and even Manager Walt each slapped out 3-base hits; and for 2-base hits, well—we think they run out of pencils. Manager Walt says with all that exercise, it ought to help a lot in getting us all on edge for the crucial, and most important game of the league next Sunday when we take on the league-leading San Fernando club on the home lot, at Park avenue and San Fernando road. The San Fernando club is leading the league with only one defeat against them, that one being when Walt Heidler pitched that remarkable no-hit game six weeks ago at San Fernando. Walt says we are going to work hard all week and beat 'em again. Come down next Sunday and watch them try to do it.

BACCALAUREATE ADDRESS DELIVERED AT METHODIST CHURCH BY REV. RASMUS

"Call of a Matchless Leadership" Is Theme; Audience Packs Auditorium Sunday Evening to Hear Opening of High School Graduation Exercises

OPENING PRAYER IS GIVEN BY REV. E. E. FORD

Reverend C. M. Calderwood Gives the Benediction at the Close of the Impressive Services for the Class of '23

Commencement honors began for the graduating class of Glendale High Sunday night when an audience which filled every seat in the gallery as well as on the main floor, assembled at the First Methodist church for the baccalaureate address and services in which other churches of the city joined.

Sharing the pulpit with Dr. H. I. Rasmus, who made the address of the evening, were Rev. E. E. Ford, Rev. Clifford Cole, Rev. C. M. Calderwood, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, and Rev. Louis Tinning, who announced the program.

The opening prayer was made by Rev. Ford and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Calderwood, the scripture reading being by Rev. Cole, who selected a portion of Chapter 12 of Paul's Epistle to the Romans.

The fine musical program included a very beautiful corne. solo, "The Lost Chord" (Sullivan), by Ivan Dow, member of the graduating class. Glenn Dolberg sang in solo, "From the Depths" (Campana), a quartet composed of Paul and Frank Butterfield, Doctors P. O. Lucas and C. R. Lusby, contributed a beautiful vocal number; an anthem, "Fear Not, O Israel," was well rendered by the choir, and several beautiful organ solos were played by Mrs. Randall, including the Festal Processional by Nevin prelude and postlude numbers, and the unusual offertory, "Song of the Basket Weavers" (Russell).

The general theme of Dr. Rasmus' address was "The Call of a Matchless Leadership," his text being the words of Jesus, "Follow Me," in the 4th chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, 19th verse.

He congratulated the members of the class and their instructors and expressed his pleasure in the fellowship of the ministers who had united with him in the service.

He reminded his audience that scholars have proved that there have been but four or five geniuses in all human history and one of these stands supreme in the realm of intellect, supreme in statesmanship, supreme in the social order, and that genius is Jesus. Said he: "The statesmanship that does not incorporate in its teaching and philosophy the truths set forth by Jesus will fall by the way. In the social order it is the teachings of Jesus that are saturating the hearts of the people and gradually winning the world. The world would be a great wilderness if there did not blossom along the highways great friendships. The great teacher who came from the hill country of Galilee has proclaimed himself the unrivalled, universal friend of the whole human race.

"We are told there is one field in which He does not loom at large, that He never drew a sword, never marshalled an army to victory, and it is true; but His victories are more far reaching than any won upon the battle field. He wielded the sword of eternal truth.

"The time is fast hastening when no longer will we glorify the man with the sword or those periods of history red with the blood of war, when His power shall reign supreme over the minds of men. It is well to remember this as we look out over the impoverished leadership of the world. There are no great leaders in the world today. In literature, science, religion, philosophy, art, there are no great leaders on the globe today. The world is open to any venturesome leader who may attempt to invade it.

"The first great call of this matchless leadership is to self-mastery. Life is a struggle. Man is born on a battlefield in which he struggles with the forces of nature. Master yourselves and you will win in the mighty struggle of life. In that struggle you will find self mastery the victorious element. The real merit is not in success but in the endeavor. The follower of this matchless teacher's leadership is the highest type of manhood and womanhood the world has ever known. The supreme objective of life is the perfected product of manhood and womanhood. The world is a great factory to this end. Beware of the waste products of wrecked manhood and womanhood.

"The fact that you are being graduated is evidenced that you are bigger than the institution in which you have been taught. You have gone beyond its teaching. It is well to have a broad interpretation of life but beware of what your definition of broadness is. There is a broadness that is weakness, and a narrowness that is strength. When a man comes to you and says he is broad on 'Thou shalt not steal,' beware. He is a thief! Jesus said: 'Straight is the gate and narrow is the way that leadeth unto everlasting life.'

"This call is that you may bring the noblest and best ideals down into your life. Listen to what Jesus said: 'If a man smite thee on the one cheek, turn thou unto him the other.' 'Bear ye one another's burdens.' 'Let the strong bear the infirmitives of the weak.'

"These are expressions of the highest ideals the world has ever known, but Jesus nailed them to earth where men and women live."

WOMAN IS KILLED AND THREE HURT IN P. E. CRASH

[By Associated Press]

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—A two car train of the Pacific Electric system bound from Santa Monica for Los Angeles via Sawtelle, was wrecked near Sherman Junction, just beyond West Hollywood, when it struck a stalled automobile driven by Mrs. Harry McAfee of Lake Arrowhead, Cal. COLLEGE WOMEN'S CLUB CLOSES ITS FIRST SEASON

Holds Luncheon at Tuesday Afternoon Club With Many Guests

The last of the season and one of the most interesting and important meetings of the Glendale College Women's club was the luncheon held Saturday at 1 o'clock at the Tuesday Afternoon club house at which covers were laid for 72.

The tables, arranged in the form of an H, were decorated in the Spanish colors, yellow and red.

Special guests of the day were Mrs. Charles Turner, president-elect of the Los Angeles University Women's club, Mrs. Mott, chairman of the Vocational Alliance bureau of Los Angeles, Miss J. A. Gray of the College Women's club of Pasadena, and Miss Martin, chairman of membership of the Pasadena club.

Each guest was called upon to introduce herself and tell something of the work of her club.

Following the luncheon a business session was held which was conducted by Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, president of the club, at which plans were discussed for lending assistance to the salvage department of the Children's hospital. Mrs. Clarence Crawford was appointed chairman to handle that work.

The matter of fulfilling the application which the club had filed to become a branch of the American Association of University Women, was then taken up. A requirement of such membership is that a club shall have ten or more members who have been graduated from certain accredited colleges. It was found that the Glendale club has forty members eligible to the national organization.

A tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Pearl Tower, who had been program chairman of the club, and the program of the day was then given. It included beautiful harp numbers by Mrs. Enona Hopkins, and several vocal selections by Mrs. John Cole.

Before it started, however, Mrs. Charles Parker, on behalf of the official board presented a gavel to Mrs. Ferguson, who acknowledged the gift in an appropriate manner, expressing her appreciation of the co-operation of her officers and outlined her expectations for the coming year as regards the work of the club.

Mrs. Turner gave an informal talk on the activities of the University Women's club, and Miss Gray of Pasadena told in a witty manner of the work of her club, which is but two years old, yet has apparently accomplished a great deal. Mrs. Mott described the work the vocational alliance has done in placing college girls in positions in Los Angeles business life.

DR. H. C. FUNK TALKS ON "THINGS THAT SATISFY"

In discussing the subject, "Things That Satisfy," Dr. Funk took for his text, Eccl. 1:2. Young girls are reared up in absolute ignorance of the most essential accomplishments, while their minds and hearts are trained to desire things that will call forth the praise and flattery of an idle, gossiping and worldly-minded people. How many thousand could not make a garment. But they say, "We do not intend to become sewing girls." As many more could not prepare a meal, and they declare that they do not expect to cook for a living.

It is a good omen, however, to note that cooking schools are becoming fashionable. As a health restorer I know of nothing better than a kitchen. This will give your cheek a color far more beautiful than all the paints and pomades the world can give. Moreover, a proper study of the food problem will add years of health, strength and comfort to the entire family.

But a number far greater than all these combined could not even direct a soul to Christ, if one should come inquiring the way to Him. "But we want our daughter to be accomplished and shine in society." Very well, let her have an acquaintance with the masters in music and in art; but do not neglect the more important things of this life. Above all, see to it that she has an acquaintance with the Divine Teacher, that great Master of the universe. And then we too would have her shine among men, as a bright star in the firmament, whose splendor and purity will make known to them that she has been with Christ.

Uncle John was an ardent supporter of the local English football club. As a respected follower of the team he had his own private niche. Aunt Martha, long puzzled by his regular absences from home on Saturday afternoons, decided to investigate.

On the following Saturday Uncle John did not turn up in the stand alone; Aunt Martha was with him.

"John," she asked, soon after the game started, "what are those eleven fools in white doing?"

"They are trying to put that bit of leather between those two posts there, my dear," he replied.

There was a short silence.

"And what are those eleven other fools in red doing?" was her next question.

"They are trying to prevent the other fellows from putting the ball between the posts, my dear."

Another silence.

"And what are these other 20,000 fools doing?" was her next question.

"They are all enjoying themselves, except one, dear."

PRESS CARRIER BOYS DEFEAT OCEAN PARK

By Score of 8 to 6, Locals Take Second Game of Series

The Press carrier boys were the victors in a baseball battle staged Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Santa Monica high school grounds when they played the carrier boys of the Ocean Park Bulletin. The score was 8 to 6 in favor of Glendale. This was the second game played between these two teams, who will meet again Saturday morning on the Glendale high school grounds. The Glendale team showed a 75% improvement over their former efforts.

Among the outstanding features of the game were the two-base hit by Catcher "Red" Mahannah," the "pride of Burbank," with bases full, and the splendid pitching of C. Smith. For the losers Ralph Kuhn, pitcher, always proved effective in the pinches.

The players on the local team and score by innings were as follows:

LA CRESCENTA IS SCENE OF COURT OF HONOR

John S. McGroarty Is the Orator of Great Gathering in Canyon

"Thank God America has boys growing up like you," stated John Stephen McGroarty, Sunday evening at the La Crescenta school, when addressing an audience of more than 300 people who had gathered for the Court of Honor session of the Verdugo Hills district, Boy Scout council.

Mr. McGroarty made a stirring talk on Americanism and the conservation of the forests.

"After seeing this demonstration of Scouting I have new faith in America's future. I salute you Boy Scouts!" he said.

France Henry, the official pep promoter, led in some enthusiastic singing and the Boy Scout orchestra of Troop No. 2, Glendale, made a hit with their new numbers.

C. W. Angier, scoutmaster of the La Crescenta troop made the address of welcome. Earl Woolley of the La Crescenta troop played a very pleasing piano solo. Harry Townsend sang a very delightful solo, accompanied by Mrs. C. W. Angier on the piano. Rev. A. H. Kelso, who has just returned from attending the Presbyterian conference, gave the invocation. Frank C. Ayars, chairman of the camping committee, told of the 1923 co-operative troop camp to be held near Lake Arrowhead.

The Court of Honor session was in charge of Captain William C. Wattles, chairman. Second class badges were awarded as follows: Troop No. 3, Glendale, Albert Muske and Otho Palmer; Troop No. 2, Glendale, Harold Edmonds, Arden Packard and Sandford Meddick; Troop No. 1, Glendale, Cornelius Collins, Charles Andrews, George Ward, Charles Warfield, John Otto and Mars Froley; Troop No. 1 Eagle Rock, William Williland and Harold Lippold; Troop No. 1, Tujunga, Walter Zachan; Troop No. 1, La Crescenta, Robert Telfer.

THE TIGER CLAW OPENS TUESDAY AT T. D. & L.

In what is easily the most thrilling picture of his career as a Paramount star, Jack Holt will make hundreds of new friends when they see him in "The Tiger's Claw," a new Paramount picture coming to the T. D. and L. theatre on Tuesday. Not only is the conflict of a man's love fighting against his duty a big part of the story but there are innumerable thrills uncommon to motion pictures. Among these are the fight with the tiger, a leap, on horseback, over a deep gulch, the dynamiting of the dam, and others. Eva Novak who played opposite Mr. Holt in "Making a Man," plays the feminine lead. George Periolat and George Field, two well-known character actors, have important roles. The remainder of the cast includes Aileen Pringle, Karl Stockdale, Evelyn Selbie, Frank Butler, Bertram Grassby, Robert Dudley, Frederick Vroom and others.

"SUCCESS" CLOSES TONIGHT AT THE GLENDALE

Three roles are played by Brandon Tynan in his characterization of Barry Carleton, the old actor in "Success," now being played at the Glendale theatre. First Mr. Tynan appears as Carleton as a young man, successful and ambitious; next he is seen as the old Carleton, his health broken down, his career a memory; and then he enacts the role of King Lear, changing his make-up completely.

It is impossible to detect in any of the three characterizations any remnant of the earlier impersonation. Each one is distinct, and different. In each case, Mr. Tynan shows his complete mastery of the art of makeup. Here's what this accomplished actor said when asked how he did it so realistically:

"When I was a very little boy I used to be an artists' helper in some of the studios. It was my duty to fetch paints and brushes. I used to ask a great many questions about the mixing of paints and other things. One of the artists encouraged me and I spent a number of years painting.

"I do not depend upon the chemists for my stage cosmetics; mix my own grease—the colors and consistencies are most satisfactory. And as for putting on twenty years to one's counteance, there is nothing like a knowledge of anatomy to help one; of course, knowing how to wield the brush is also of assistance."

"Success" is a Ralph Ince production, written and adapted by Adeline Leitzbach and Theodore A. Liebler, Jr. It is presented by Murray W. Garsson and released by Metro Pictures Corporation. George V. Hobart wrote the titles.

CIVIL LIBERTY

An invitation to join the American Civil Liberties Union is acknowledged. The impulse to decline it is instinctive. Sober second thought confirms the wisdom of the impulse. There is no apparent reason for joining. Many reasons come to mind for the opposite course.

In the first place there is no need for such an organization. It comes into existence in a land wherein civil liberty is complete. The individual has the greatest freedom of thought and action. The press is unrestricted. The organization now seeking additional members is not hindered as it promulgates its principles and makes its plea.

In the second place, one joining this order would find himself in company that he would prefer to avoid, and pledged to the support of principles with which he had no sympathy. As to many issues he would be standing with the I. W. W.; with William Z. Foster, the blatant anarchist preaching revolution; with political prisoners deservedly in jail.

Much is made in the prospectus and invitation of the circumstance that a citizen was arrested for reading from the constitution to a gathering at the waterfront. It is true that he was arrested. It also is true that his purpose was not to read the constitution, nor to vindicate his right to do so, but to show that in interfering with a turbulent mob, the police had been in the wrong. This mob had been threatening and violent. Public safety demanded that it be dispersed, and it had been dispersed. The reading was the signal for it to reassemble; was a flambuoyant pretense. The citizen merged his personal campaign into the campaign of the openly law-defying element. Hence he had to be adjudged as a part of that element, and not as an individual innocuously engaged. This has displeased the American Civil Liberties Union.

The Foster mentioned above is devoting himself to promoting revolution. He is openly the enemy of the government; yet he is allowed to talk. He quotes the constitution, and from the records of the early days of the republic seeks to prove that Washington and Jefferson, revolting against tyranny, were rebels in the sense that he himself is a rebel. A position so grotesquely absurd, so measureless in its insolence and ignorance, does not require detailed analysis, or any reply.

There is an effort to have The Nation and The New Republic admitted to the public schools. The objection to these publications is not that they are hostile to the government, for many papers of unquestioned standing criticize the administration harshly. There is no limit set to the abuse that may be heaped upon congress and the departments. The dissenting papers are not enemies of the republic. They do not seek its overthrow. They have no ambition to undermine its institutions. They champion what they conceive to be its best interests. The two magazines in question are at a different plane.

The fact that a Foster may speak, and these magazines be published, is evidence enough of the dual freedom concerning the fancied absence of which the Civil Liberty Union is making signals of distress. But it does not follow that because this excessive freedom is accorded, that good citizenship must bet behind the agitators who take advantage of it. They may tolerate them, but it is no part of their business to endorse or encourage them.

THE BENNETT FORTUNE

An inventory of the estate of the late James Gordon Bennett reveals the fact that it amounts to no great fortune, as fortunes are counted now. There are about three million dollars of it in the United States and two and a half millions of francs in France.

Bennett once was a famous name in journalism. James Gordon Bennett Sr. founded and conducted the New York Herald. For many years it was a great paper, its foreign service the most completely organized of any. While the elder Bennett lived, the Herald wielded editorial influence. Under the son this influence disappeared. When Munsey took over the remains of the once great journal, he did not get much.

The son was an eccentric individual. Sometimes he ordered big things done, as when he issued to Stanley the brief command "Find Livingstone." Stanley found Livingstone, but from his employer he received no word or token of appreciation. Bennett occasionally would come from Europe, turn the personnel of his New York office upside down, and depart. He delighted in surprising the staff, and in confusing them by absurd directions. He had none of the bigness of his father.

It was no wonder that the Herald was going down. It had become a paper without a purpose. As an organ for dissemination of news it had been overtaken and passed by more than one rival. As an organ of opinion it had reached the plane of absolute futility. It had been living on tradition. A newspaper to be fairly successful must have character; must strive after ideals, must be fair, and in its expressions, wholly sane. The act of Munsey in snuffing out the Herald, while not actuated by the spirit of altruism, was in effect, kindly.

When Edison inveighs against the value of a college education it is possible that he does not mean all he says. At least he sent his son to a technical school, and since the youth's graduation, has taken the risk of offering him a job. Edison had no college training, and his career suggests that he did not need one, but few men are of Edison caliber.

A victory that is bought with money isn't worth celebrating.

NO CHANCE FOR SURPRISE

Willis Booth, formerly a Californian, but now a banker of New York, recently addressed a gathering of business men in Los Angeles. Among other things he said, "The development in the Southland in the next few years is going to surprise all of us."

The development is going to be vast, so vast that the result is not to be definitely visioned, but it is not "going to surprise all of us." So much already has been done, such an unprecedented growth has become of record, that nothing could be surprising in magnitude of accomplishment.

The people of this section are so assured of their future because they have beheld their dreams coming true. There has been fully realized here a degree of progress that only the most enthusiastic a few years ago could have even faintly hoped to see. The growth has been of such character, and based on such conditions, that there seems no limit to it as one looks to future possibilities.

Mr. Booth echoed the prediction that Los Angeles is to become one of the three great distributing points of the United States. How wild such conjecture would have seemed a score of years ago! Now it seems not only reasonable but almost inevitable. But even that status will cause no surprise, being but the coming of the expected.

GALLERY GODS TO DATE

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Where are the gallery gods of yesterday?

Bless their staunch and gladsome hearts I found them this afternoon—and that after thinking that they were lost like the vanished tribes of Israel or had else become extinct like the Beluchetherium. For the sake of Roy Chapman Andrews, who discovered the fossils of the beast in Mongolia I hope I have spelled him right.

Estelle Lawton Lindsey

But this is about gallery gods and not fossils.

All the little gallery gods are scattered now; they lend life and zest to neighborhood moving picture houses where, probably for the joy of having them about, they are admitted for ten cents per head.

The suburbs are full of them and as of old they cheer on the hero and hiss the villain, root for virtue and discourage vice.

This afternoon for two hours I watched several hundred of them and noted with pleasure and surprise the accuracy of their moral judgments. They were of all nations and all ages, but had they been members of a constabulary charged with keeping the peace of some border settlement they could not with more unanimous enthusiasm have ridden the villain down.

One and all they were in love with the heroine; they appreciated her danger at every crisis and they groaned when the hero was overlong recovering from being hit by the villain's automobile. But when finally he collected his wits and took in the situation their sympathetic shouts sped his flying feet. They refereed the fight between the contesting males and again their sympathy was with virtue. Even the appearance of the hero's sail boat as he watched the window of his love from afar was appreciated by these urchins and they guessed before the action showed it that from the sea he would presently arrive in the nick of time and again foil the villain.

It was an exotic film with an assorted variety of sex loves on tap and the reactions of those children to the situations ought to cheer many worthy people who fear that the films are degrading the young.

It is undoubtedly true that when the children who now go to the movies are grown there will be no surprises for them in the love making line. Of a surety they will recognize genuine and high love, and it is equally certain that no lustful passion will with them pass muster for love. That may be depriving them of the much deplored bloom; again it may be putting them on guard. No one watching that audience of children could fail to note that in every instance they sympathized with decent love and scorned the lower passion.

Ten years from now it is probable there will be fewer girls who come to their husbands innocent of kisses; then again there will be fewer girls with any excuse to go on the rocks because of ignorance of the physical expressions of the passions. Girls who have watched unworthy passions play across photographed faces will recognize and shrink from those same expressions when they see them on faces of flesh and blood.

What is more, having listened to the comments, cheers, hisses and shouts of the gallery gods, girls will know what men in their hearts admire, what they genuinely esteem and what they condemn.

And the gallery gods, whom many of us thought extinct, will have helped them to this understanding.

Perhaps after all we have been permitting fear to function too largely in our consideration of the effect of the moving pictures on the young.

We have been reckoning without the gallery gods.

QUERIES

(Find the error in this article)

A Matter of Emphasis

O. F. D., New York: "Please straighten me out on this sentence: 'Not a line or (nor) word, pertaining thereto, has reached Mr. Jones, or (nor) the undersigned.'"

Answer: To be emphatic, the following is correct: Not a line nor a word. As illustrated, the "a" should be repeated. Or is preferable in the expression, "has reached Mr. Jones or me." The last comma is unnecessary. "Not a line or a word" would also be correct. On the other hand, line and word mean the same thing as you use them. Note the following revision: Not a word pertaining thereto has reached either Mr. Jones or the undersigned.

Detected the Deliberate Error

J. D. K. of Cleveland recently detected the deliberate error in an instalment of "The Right Word." One day the following appeared in the column: "The most easiest way." The following day, under the caption, "Yesterday's Error," the foregoing error was corrected to "The easiest way." There is no more clearer method of impressing a reader with the correct form of expression. J. D. K. closes his letter with the following query: "If you were writing a traffic warning sign should you make it read: 'Drive Slow?'"

Answer: Either "Drive Slowly" or "Drive Slow" is correct. Slowly and slow are both adverbs. Apparently there are many who feel that the expression "Drive Slow" is more forceful, and also more serviceable from the standpoint of space.

Vocabulary

To deprecate means to lessen the worth of; to lower, or attempt to lower, the estimation of, underrate; disparage.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

JAMES W. FOLEY

Apologies.
Like cement.
To mend broken feelings.
Or hurt sensibilities.

The allegory is plain.

* * *

There is a vase on the mantle.
A very delicate and beautiful vase.
And it delights the eye and the artistic sense.
For it is graceful, with an appealing design.
Plenty of light and color.

* * *

Some one brushes it carelessly in passing.
Crash!
Down it falls to the floor.
And is shattered.
A little tragedy to be sure.

* * *

The fall resulted from haste and carelessness.
Some one did not look or think or pay attention.
And there lie the bits of the broken vase.
And it is off for the cement bottle.
And the work of repair begins.

* * *

But the bits are hard to piece together.
The patterns were so fine and delicate.
And there are little bits for which we seem to find no place.
And however carefully we cement the bits together, the cracks show.

* * *

And there is friendship.
As fine and delicate as any vase.
With its lights and colors and patterns.
The fragrance of the human soul is the friendship of it.

* * *

And then some one brushes carelessly by.
A harsh word, a thoughtless action, a careless blow.
And crash!
Friendship has been broken and the bits of it scattered about.

* * *

Then there is the rush for the cement bottle of apology.
With which we seek to piece together the broken bits.
And we do it—in a way.
There is forgiveness and a promise of forgetfulness.
But——
The cracks show.

* * *

However full the apology, there is always the crack in the vase.
Not to say that apologies are not right things.
Proper and necessary amenities of living.
But——
How much better had the vase not fallen.

* * *

So a moment of thoughtfulness and care before is worth an hour of apology and recrimination afterward.

For friendships like vases are beautiful things.

* * *

We do not necessarily make of them altogether utilitarian things.

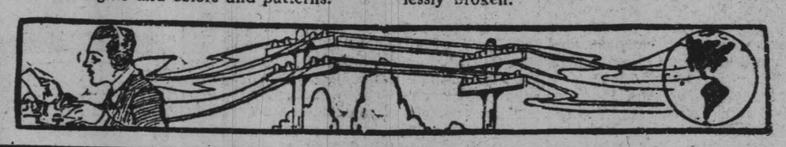
We do not serve vinegar or syrup or tea in the vase.

Neither do we aim to make material profit out of friendships.

* * *

But they are both ornaments of life.

Graceful and beautiful and not to be carelessly broken.



Songs of the Poets

Margaret and Dora—By Thomas Campbell

Margaret's beauteous—Grecian arts
Ne'er drew form completer,
Yet why, in my heart of hearts,
Hold I Dora's sweeter.

Dora's eyes of heavenly blue
Pass all painting's reach,
Ringdoves' notes are discord to
The music of her speech.

Artists! Margaret's smile receive,
And on canvas show it;
But for perfect beauty leave
Dora to her poet.

THE INCOMPETENCY OF THE GOVERNMFNT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

ALMOST everyone in the United States not connected with the government is thoroughly convinced of its incompetency. Few realize just why it is incompetent. The reasons, however, are quite simple.

They are that, first, government officials are chosen by party leaders who elect themselves and are not elected by the people, and whose only interest is in retaining their power.

Second, the candidates for public office are practically unknown to the people except as they are exploited by party organizations.

And third, the candidates are chosen not for their qualifications to discharge the duties of the office to which they are elected, but because of their ability to be of assistance to the party which chooses them.

In other words, we are existing under an extra legal super-government, a government by political parties.

The men who manage these political parties are almost uniformly men of ability in only one direction; to-wit, that of manipulating a machine. As a rule they are not men of civic conscience nor of training in public affairs.

The consequence is that while the superintendents of our factories, the managers of our railroads and the heads of our department stores are men who are chosen because of their ability to do their work, our mayors, governors, congressmen and other public officials, are rather uniformly unfit.

This is not because of any wickedness; it is because of the neglect of a natural law.

That law is that any group of citizens, when it becomes too large, is unable to deliberate or to conclude intelligently.

It would be impossible for the people of the United States or for the people of any one of the states to choose their leaders in a mass meeting. Such a meeting would fall to pieces of its own weight.

The only possible way for such large units to be efficient is for them to break up into smaller units, each of which would be able to consider questions and choose men with intelligence.

There is no provision in the government for this. And it is of this lack of provision that the political party has taken advantage. It has sprung up naturally to fill this gap.

It does for the great body of people what they have not been intelligent enough to do for themselves.

Hence it is that the people of the country are governed by self-elected and irresponsible party managers and not by their own representatives.

The people can elect whom they choose, of course. The trouble is that they cannot select those from whose number they are to choose. The people do the electing, but the political party does the selecting.

The remedy for this is manifest. It is to change the government so that the work of the political parties shall be done by the people themselves operating through small groups.

However, as this change can only be made by the existing lawmakers and as these lawmakers owe their very position to the political parties, the present system seems to be self-perpetuating and unchangeable.

So long as the people persist in thinking that political parties are absolutely necessary, there appears to be no hope of improvement.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

AMERICA'S OUTRAGED FLEET

[Chicago Tribune]

Mr. Wales says French naval experts are dumfounded at our government's abandonment of its naval modernization plans. We don't wonder at their astonishment, but we do not share it, because of long experience with the ignorance and want of foresight of American governments in matters of national defense. The French do not realize that we cherish a tradition of unpreparedness which the bitter experience of our soldiers in every war has not shaken. The men who sustain that tradition are not the men who pay for it.

Meanwhile the French are modernizing energetically. The main batteries of capital ships are being rearranged so as to increase range, as our experts planned to increase our fleet range, and other improvements are being installed—while our plans are held up, with the prospect of being thrown into congress to be bandied by politicians and obstructed by pacifists and partisans of false economy. At present our battle fleet is fatally outranged and if obstructionists and sentimentalists continue to have their way it will continue to be outranged. This makes the naval limitation treaty a fraud so far as our position is concerned.

TRUE TO HIS CONVICTIONS

[Fitchburg Sentinel]

Vice President Coolidge's idea that to leave a nation unprepared for war is a crime, is entirely consistent with his idea that to leave a city without police protection is a crime.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

They are urging a club for China. A studied effort is being made to paint the Chinese record very black for the sake of getting an excuse to pound the stuffing out of the Orientals. It is to be hoped that the opportunity shall be passed up. There would be no glory in licking China, and probably very little benefit to any concerned.

HENRY JAMES.

It is true that the recent banditry among the Chinese was a deplorable affair. Naturally it should be paid for. The government displayed a pitiful weakness, but if one wanted to be mean, flaws could be picked in the conduct of this great and glorious country, which is to be reckoned a good place to live in, and fight for, at that.

The Chinese never have been given a chance. They have been plundered and abused by every nation with which they have had the mischance to have contact, with the single and honorable exception of the United States. Towards this country, despite efforts to prove the contrary, the Chinese are friendly. Long ago they learned to call it the "Land of the beautiful flag." And nobody under the shadow of that flag has wronged them. This is not the time to begin. There never should be a time to begin.

Happily there is no pressing occasion for the alien to project himself into Chinese territory. On many occasions has he done so, and grabbed a portion of the same. The Chinese have been cheated and lampooned long enough. Why not let them alone?

A few days ago the statement appeared here that economy had cut off the supply of reading matter heretofore provided for the blind in state institutions.

It is pleasing to be able to admit that the statement was an error, based on misinformation. There was a time when there seemed likelihood that the necessary item would not appear in the budget, but later the item was incorporated. It provides $10,000 for the two years, being the amount ordinarily devoted to this worthy purpose, and believed to be ample.

In the case of the student of Northwestern university, the finding of whose bones lately created some interest, the verdict of the coroner's jury was murder.

When a student is killed by the excess of the hazing spirit, it becomes the duty of the authorities to do something quite difinite. It may be taken for granted that the practice of hazing will be indulged in but chastely at the university hereafter.

Probably the truth never will be found out. Those who may hold the secret, have held it so long that theirs has become guilty knowledge, and fear will seal their lips.

Lately a mob was chasing a dog, hurling after it the libel that it was mad. A policeman was summoned to kill it, but being a person of discernment, he petted the head of the trembling creature, and carried it away in his arms.

It is pleasing to know that a policeman of that sort is on duty.

Probably there never has been a championship fight "on the square." The one in prospect seems likely to be of a piece with the rest. News from the training camps evidently is designed to befool the public.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Our town is funny. That is not the proper use of the word, I know, but it is funny. Most of us have something inside our heads besides tallow, but few of us use whatever that something may be. We "yes" each other. We have the intelligent initiative of goldfish.

"We ought to run James Morton Gilliflower for mayor," we said to ourselves not long ago.

This is an odd story. Odd to me, anyhow. James Morton Gilliflower was about as near the mayor's chair as a man could be before a question was asked. He is the son of one of the town's richest men. His moral character is sublime. That's the only word for it. Sublime. He never did or said or thought a wrong thing in his life. His brow is as puckered with lofty sentiments as is the mouth of an eater of green persimmons. He carries brief cases full of terribly dull junk that he reads to people who have not the courage to say no. He is thirty years old. Then—

"What has he done?" some one asked. "He is thirty years old, he is educated, refined and good. He has money, social, political, and financial backing, a sound constitution and a limousine. What has he ever done?"

He had been looking around, his friends said. He had not decided what branch of art or industry he would honor by his exertions. He had been intending to go into business, but he did not know what business. After all, it is only four years since he graduated from college and he had no need to hurry. Father has plenty of money.

"The answer is no," said our town. "Not for mayor. J. Morton Gilliflower may be a pearl among men, but we do not want him for mayor. The man this town needs for mayor is a man with courage and get-there and sense. A young man with all young Gilliflower's chances and who has not done anything with any of 'em looks very much to this town like a sap."

But we came mighty near taking him before we took thought.

WIRELESS HANSON MAKES HIT WITH RADIO STUNT

Stirs the Atmosphere of Realtors' Picnic in Verdugo Canyon

Wireless Hanson with his radio was one of the big hits of the Realty Board jinx day at Haddock-Nibbley park, Saturday. Reservations are now being made in the new apartment hotel, at the corner of Burchett and Brand. While originally only four stories were planned, it may be necessary to add two stories more to meet the demand for accommodations. It will be recalled that some time ago Mr. Guthrie announced the successful financing of this splendid project, which he put across unaided and alone, and for which he received the deserved commendation of his friends.

Councilman Horn, erstwhile Bill the Realtor, has made a hit with aspiring politicians, who longingly cast their peepers on his new sedan. It is not a feeling of envy, for all are congratulating Bill on his fast work, but an inquiry—How did he do it? It is believed that Mr. Horn's success may influence other prominent realtors to run for the council.

Mrs. Mabel Tight, the youngest living realtor of the female species in captivity, is again seen in our midst. For the past several months Mabel has been missing, and grave fears were held that she had been kidnapped, falling a victim to the crime wave of our young womanhood. But it is now known that these fears for her safety were unfounded, as she has been busy putting the finishing touches on the basement of the Glendale hotel, at the corner of Glendale and Broadway. Thrice welcome, Mabel.

Elsa-Jane, our flitting realtor, who moves her office more frequently than the council moves the depot site, has accepted a position as manager and head coach of the Realty Board Ball club. All members who would try for the team are urged to make appointments for examinations and try-outs at once. All appointments strictly confidential. Bon Voyage, Elsa, on your new career.

The talkative Judge Miller may not have a ready comprehension, but he gets there as befits our profession. After the chair had clearly explained a motion before the last meeting, the Judge said he did not understand the question. Whereupon, the Chair retorted that he didn't expect the Judge to understand it, but to vote anyway. The Judge voted. Results count!

For the past several weeks, Mayor Robinson has been gathering up meat scraps and leavings at the Realty Board luncheons, presumably for his pedigreed pups. However, recently, several realtors of unquestioned veracity observed the mayor, after the luncheon hour, sitting on the running board of his car ravenously devouring the purloined fragments. It only goes to show you never can tell. Every dog has his day!

Messrs. Thom and Hayward, the short and long of our official staff, have been seen together much of late, especially at night. At first it was thought they were out on business for the board, as it is well known they have their hearts in their official duties. But since it has become known that their wives are away, the wise ones only shake their heads with a knowing smile. Verily, one half never knows how the other half lives.

The spiritual welfare of the delegates to the Cleveland convention has been well provided for, and our own Dr. Jessie Russell has been honored by being selected to conduct the "quiet hour" enroute. This is very gratifying to the doctor's friends, who know her wholesouled propensities, and feel that her powerful quiet will be a quiet power for the glory of God and the honor of Glendale. More power to you, Doctor!

It seems that of late Bill Twining has repeatedly met our efficient secretary, Miss Traver, at the corner of Harvard and Brand. Recurrences of the same event no doubt have their own psychology. Miss Traver says it's telepathy. But Bill offers no explanation, so there you are. Another unsolved mystery!

Bill McMillan has leased the entire ground floor of the new hotel for an up-to-date grill. Smiling Mac's operation exposed his capacity for grub, and while painful in itself, is the biggest kind of a boost for his new business. Mac knows what a full meal is, and expects to give his patrons the benefit of his own experience. Three squares to you, Mac!

Dame Rumor has it that there are signs that Jimmie Pearson is "seeing things at night." Base infamy! Our Jimmie may be visionary, but the only signs he ever sees are the ones on San Fernando road. Move the signs and you remove the temptation. Our young must be kept pure and undefiled.

Of late, Mr. Blackmore of the Suburban company has sported an irrepressible smile, especially in the presence of the ladies. Mr. Schuyler likewise has adorned his facial expression with a grin. The secret of these smiling proclivities is now out. These well-known handsome gentlemen, are friendly rivals for popular favor in the beauty contest among the gentler sex. May the best man win!

At a golf club one Sunday morning a member turned up late. Asked why, he said it was really a toss-up whether he should come there that morning or go to church.

"And I had to toss up fifteen times," he added.

JUNE ROMANCE

MISS MCLENNAN IS WED AT HOME OF HER PAREMTS

Residence of Prestons Is Thronged With Many Guests

Ideal in its simplicity but in a beautiful setting befitting the dignity of the solemn rite was the marriage of Jeannette McLennan and Joseph Wilson, Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston of 330 North Jackson street, this city.

In the presence of the families of bride and bridegroom, and a few intimate friends, it was celebrated at 4 o'clock in the living room before a fireplace which had been made gay with baskets of gladioli and larkspur, the mantle fringed with ivy and blue plumbago. There the officiating clergyman, Dr. W. E. Edmonds, and bridegroom awaited the pretty bride who came unattended, charmingly gowned in orchid georgette, embroidered and beaded, carrying a very beautiful shower bouquet of orchids, matching her gown and lilies of the valley. A black, flower-trimmed hat completed her costume.

Just preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Frank Arnold sang "All for You" (Bertrand Brown), the accompaniment being provided by Mrs. Perry J. Rodgers who also played the wedding march for the entrance of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony relatives and old friends pressed forward to offer their congratulations on a union which is approved by all who know them.

Refreshments of ice cream in individual moulds and cake were served, the wedding cake having a place of honor and being cut in time-honored fashion by the bride who disappeared soon after to don a charming going-away sport gown of black and white silk and presently she and her spouse slipped away in a shower of rice and went to the station, where they took a train for their unknown destination.

On their return they will be at home to their many friends in the Preston residence, which they will occupy this summer while Mr. and Mrs. Preston and Shirley are at the beach.

The Glendale Presbyterian church was represented by others besides the pastor, as both Mr. and Mrs. Wilson are members and popular among its younger people.

They were the recipients of many beautiful articles of linen, silver, cut and engraved glass, electrical appliances, china, pictures, lamps, vases, kitchen ware, etc. One gift of special interest was a very handsome gold-lined silver coffee urn with sugar bowl and pitcher to match from Mr. Wilson's associates in the Union Oil company, the list being headed by the secretary of the company, John McPeak, who was a guest, and who is a relative of Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who was also present. The bride was likewise the recipient of some precious old family silver from her husband's mother, Mrs. James M. Wilson—a half dozen teaspoons of the McKinley family, brought to this country from England many years ago, and handed down in the family from generation to generation. Still another highly prized gift was a beautiful bedspread embroidered in colors, the handiwork of Miss Margaret Wilson, sister of the bridegroom.

The guest list included the following Glendale residents: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clendenin, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Templeton, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lily, Mr. and Mrs. Smith MacMullin, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sullivan, Mrs. H. E. Noble, Miss Pearl Adair, Mrs. Roy V. Hogue, Arthur McKenzie, Mrs. David Brant, Mrs. Addie Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold, Mrs. S. M. Bales, Mrs. Perry Rodgers, James McClusky, Miss Margaret McClusky, Mrs. Jennie Brown and Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds.

From Los Angeles came Mr. Daniel McPeak, Miss Elizabeth McPeak, Mr. and Mrs. John McPeak, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Milford, Dr. and Mrs. Matthew Campbell, Mrs. Virginia Claflin, Mrs. A. J. Johnston, Mrs. J. J. Morgan, Charles Head, Miss Edith Spare, Miss Lura Love, Miss Elizabeth Buffington, Miss Florence Carson, Miss Catherine Van Tillburgh, Mrs. Henry Paxson, Mrs. James Young, Dr. and Mrs. John J. Millar of Hollywood, Myron Harris and Miss Louise Harris of Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Straight of Eagle Rock, Miss Gwendolyn Claflin of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Schumaker of Hermosa, Mrs. Sherwin Gibbons and Miss Anna Gibbons of Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson and Miss Margaret Wilson of Glendale, and of course, the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston and their son, Shirley Preston.

MRS. F. E. BROWN HONORS MISS RUTH TIMMINGS

Mrs. Frank E. Brown, formerly of Hollywood, was hostess at an enjoyable social afternoon and shower at her home, 633 West Wilson, Saturday, honoring Miss Ruth Timmings, a bride-to-be, who surprised her friends recently with the announcement of her betrothal to Cyrus T. Galley of Hollywood.

Two large kewpies arrayed as bride and groom graced the center of the luncheon table, where places were marked by dainty baskets of lilies of the valley. The color scheme was pink and white.

Among those present were Bessie B. Brown, Leilah Smiley, Miss Lucile George, Miss Broac, Boeck, Miss Ruth Hicks, Mrs. E. C. Sisson, Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Wallace W. Brown and Miss Margaret Kimber.

MISS DOROTHEA VOGEL IS HOSTESS TO BRIDE TO BE

Miss Dorothea Vogel of 410 North Jackson street, Glendale, was hostess at a very smart luncheon party given Saturday at the Ambassador hotel in honor of Miss Marjorie Prince of Hollywood, who is to be a June bride, and Miss Ann Masters of Los Angeles, who is leaving shortly for the east. After luncheon, bridge was enjoyed. Covers were laid for twelve at the luncheon table.

The guests from Glendale included Miss Marguerite Studebaker, Mrs. J. F. Zimmer, Mrs. Elizabeth Bray and Mrs. Mildred Vogel. The other guests were from Los Angeles and Hollywood.

KEYSTONE OF THE PENTECOST SUBJECT OF REV. EDMONDS

"The Keynote of Pentecost" was the sermon topic at the Glendale Presbyterian church yesterday morning. Rev. W. E. Edmonds used Joel 2:28 as his text and said that this little book of prophecy contains the subject and text of the deeper and larger unfoldings of Isaiah, Jeremiah and other later prophets. It is the real text of all the volumes written about the Holy Spirit. In one little verse God gave Joel the whole doctrine of the Holy Spirit. Like a rainbow upon the storm cloud, like a gleam of sunshine out on a dark sky, like a blossom amid the regions of eternal snow, so Joel's beautiful vision comes out of a dark calamity, a great national catastrophe.

In the midst of this national trial the prophet is sent to utter a trumpet call to the people to come together in fasting and prayer seeking deliverance of God. They call not in vain. He sends a gracious answer and as always gives more than they ask, even to the promise of His own personal coming to dwell among them in the fullness of Pentecostal times and the brighter glory of the advent and region of the Son of God Himself.

The prophet speaks of the ministry of repentance. Before the promise of God could be fulfilled there must come a dispensation of repentance, humiliation and earnest prayer. These must precede any manifestation of the Holy Spirit. Many a church and many an individual becomes narrow and barren because stifling and limiting and grieving the Holy Spirit. After repentance, and recognition of God as the author of all blessing, will come the same gracious answer which the prophet Joel was sent to bear to God's ancient people.

This coming of the Holy Spirit is a personal coming. The third person of the Trinity removes His residence from heaven to earth, just as literally as the second person, the Lord Jesus Christ, removed His residence from heaven to earth when He became incarnate and dwelt for 33½ years in Galilee and Judea. This world is now the home of the Holy Spirit, a real personal being with affections, intelligence and will like our own.

The abundance of the outpouring is very strongly expressed, a boundless filling. It is without limit or measure. We have not yet begun to realize the illimitable power and resources which God places at the call of His people's faith and obedience.

There would be no distinction of race or age in this outpouring. Social class or condition would be no bar to receiving the Spirit. The poorest and lowliest and most unlikely were to be elevated and to receive the enduement of power from on high. Prince or slave will be equally recompensed in His kingdom.

The prophet points to special gifts and manifestations of the Holy Spirit. Prophesying is speaking forth the Divine message. There is no reference here or liberty for extravagant and dangerous spiritualistic manifestations of trance or mediums. God does give His vision still and gives the holy heart its visions. Let us cherish them, let us live by them, let them lift us up and lead us on to greater heights of His love and will.

The work of the Holy Spirit today is to gather out of the nations a people for Christ, to finish the work of the gospel, to prepare the church, His body, for the coming Lord and then this body as a bride adorned for her husband. There is a kingdom within the believer which is righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. May the Holy Spirit Himself make all this very real to every believing heart.

MISSOULA, Mont., June 18.—From figures compiled from the expense accounts of students at Montana university, authorities have ascertained that it costs $17 a month more to keep a boy in college than a girl. Boys spend more for pleasure and $4.50 a month more for board, the figures disclosed.

With some misgivings a scientist belonging to the Luxor party consented to lecture for the benefit of a detachment of tourists. Leading them to the top of a dune, he announced: "This is the vast and solemn Sahara Desert, 3,000 miles long and 2,000 miles deep."

"What a wonderful lot of parking space."

BUSINESS DEALS INCREASE IN NUMBER

O. M. Newby Tells of Heightened Interest in Business Property

Buying and selling in Glendale business property is increasing, each month's sales totaling a higher amount, according to O. M. Newby of 107 South Central avenue.

"Our very recent sales amount to more than $130,000 in business property, bringing the total for the past 60 days up to $200,000," he stated. "One of the largest deals has been that of the northwest corner of Brand and Doran, which was purchased by H. F. Metcalf of Metcalf & Ryan. Los Angeles realtors. Our office has handled both the buying and selling end of Mr. Metcalf's deals exclusively in Glendale. Last week, through our office, he purchased the corner of Ivy and Central, where he expects to put in some improvements."

Among the other sales of business property, Mr. Newby reports that Mrs. Stella M. Sherman has purchased the property adjoining the new home of the Glendale Daily Press on North Brand boulevard. Mrs. Sherman has also purchased the northwest corner of Brand and Lexington. J. A. Endicott represented the owner in the former deal, and Mrs. Bertha E. Larson, associated with Mr. Endicott, was the former owner of the latter piece of property.

A number of smaller deals perpetrated by the Newby office include the sale of two lots on West Broadway to Mrs. C. A. Charles of Los Angeles.

Mrs. B. A. McCarroll is now in charge of the house and lot and rental department at the Newby office. Mrs. Louise O'Barney is also associated with the firm.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

A LITTLE RHYME

A little thought,
A little time,
The Muse has brought
A little rhyme.

A little work,
A little care,
A little pull
Of little hair.

A little wrinkle
In the brow,
A little twinkle
Here and now.

A little wait,
A little think,
A little type,
A little ink.

Of friendly grace
A little hint,
A little place
Right here to print.

A little wish
To bring you cheer,
A bit of gladness
Now and here.

A little hope
To love and lift,
So won't you take
This little gift?

"THE TRIUMPHS OF LIFE," IS TOPIC OF DR. FAREED

In drawing the picture on "The Triumphs of Life," Sunday morning, in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, Dr. Fareed showed how the masses of humanity look at the tragedies of life, the blasted hopes, the injustices, the inequalities, the lack of fulfillment of their plan, not realizing there is a great plan for the race and that plan is evolution. These people get only the partial viewpoint, for without the vicissitudes of life the mountain top experiences will never be reached. When one learns to accept the tragedies joyfully as a lesson to be learned, then he no longer retards his own progress, but will work with the great law back of all race progress and evolution.

The deeper viewpoint, which is possessed by the few and not the many, is the God-inspired vision which shows life in cycles of changes and growth—the whole scheme being perpetual progress for all peoples and ultimate perfection of man. In the material world there seems to be disintegration, but when one has this higher vision he understands it is only the evolutionary change necessary to reduce the crumbling rock to the vegetable, then later to transfer the beginning conscious life in the vegetable to the animal kingdom and from there, in the great cycles of time, it evolves to man. There is no stagnation in the world and it is man's duty to hasten evolution by working in harmony with the law.

MAJECTIC BEATS SPEED RECORD

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, June 18.—The liner Majestic made a record run recently up the channel between Casquets and Cherbourg, travelling at one time at 29.7 knots an hour. The engines developed a speed of more than 25.5 knots and, with the tide running in her favor at between four and five knots, the liner was able to accomplish a performance no other other liner has ever equalled.

On a recent trip from New York the liner also beat her own previous record for a day's run, doing 603 miles in 23 hours.

CALIFORNIA AT DAIRY SESSION

[By Associated Press]

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 18.—California is well represented in the organization of the World's Dairy Congress, which will open at Washington, D. C., October 2, bringing together leaders in the dairying industry throughout the civilized world. The directing head of the organization is H. E. Van Norman, professor of dairying at the University of California and at one time dean of the farm school at Davis. Van Norman was drafted from the University of California to organize the World's Dairy Congress, and has been active in the work for the last two years.
